

TALK OF PEACE HEARD IN WORLD'S CAPITALS

sets his columns to marching on the place immediately upon the receipt of the news of Rostovsky's defeat. It was undoubtedly to give him as much of a start as possible that Tokyo withheld information of the result of the battle.

"Of course, the historic tragedy of Tsushima holds the entire public interest just now. Unless I am greatly mistaken the next news from the armies will tell of a great flanking movement by the Japanese with the object of getting between Linevitch and his home base.

"This accomplished, his army will be destroyed as completely as was Rostovsky's fleet. There will then be nothing to prevent the Japanese going to the borders of Europe if they so desire.

Siberians Would Welcome Japan.

"It must be remembered that Asia is conquered country for Russia and that it would be a simple matter for the suave diplomatic Japanese to make friends of the Siberian natives, who are, after all, of the same race.

"Russia may be compelled within another year to face the alternative of peace on Japan's terms or the loss of most, if not all, of Siberia."

Battle Fought and Won
By Little Torpedo Boats

NEW YORK, May 30.—Lieut. P. K. Unno, of the Japanese navy, and a member of the Japanese strategic corps, who is now at the Brooklyn navy yard, says:

"The Japanese victory is a vindication of their faith in torpedo boats. From the dispatches it appears certain that the battle was fought on our side mainly by these small craft, and that Admiral Togo's bigger ships did not participate until the victory was won.

"I am convinced that when the final reports come in it will be shown that the Japanese used their submarine boats with great effect. We have a fleet of seventeen of these boats, and the battle-ground was just the place for their use. The water is shoal there, the channel is filled with islets through which a submarine could thread its way unobserved.

Japs Believed in Craft.

"You will remember that a few months ago there was widespread talk that torpedo boats were useless. Japan has already thought differently. The average European officer wants to command a battleship or a cruiser because it is a bigger boat, and they look with indifference, or contempt, on the little destroyer.

"But the torpedo-boats gives the Japanese man the chance that he wants. He is willing to risk his life, and he is essentially cool in the midst of the most terrific fighting. So when he took his life in his hands, and went against the big Russian battleships and cruisers in the Korean straits, he exulted in the work before him.

Expense Justified.

"The result justifies the money and time that the Japanese government has spent building torpedo boats. For by the time the Russian fleet had finished with them the battle was over, to all intents and purposes.

"What I am puzzled over is the whereabouts of Admiral Uru, with his flying squadron of fast cruisers. They may be almost anywhere, for all that the world knows, for the Japanese government is very secret regarding them.

"Finally, one word should be said regarding what the Japanese call team work. It is not only the man behind the gun who is winning the fight for Japan; it is also the perfect team work to which they have been trained."

Wheeler Says Togo
Has Carved Undying Name

BOSTON, Mass., May 30.—Gen. Joseph Wheeler gave these impressions of the great sea battle:

"While I have been unable to digest the details of the great battle between the Japanese and the Russians, it would seem from the brief newspaper accounts that the little brown men had been keeping up their winning streak, and that Admiral Togo had carved an undying name for himself in the annals of Japan.

"If the Japanese have captured or sunk sixteen ships of war, there is every reason to believe, it would seem to me, that the naval power of Russia had been seriously crippled, as among the sunk or captured vessels are some of its best fighting machinery."

"Do you believe this victory will tend to hasten the end of the war?"

"To answer such a question would be purely guess work on the part of anyone who has not been to the East, and studied the conditions that prevail and the methods of warfare of both nations. When the war began, Russia, in the minds of almost everybody, stood as a giant about to grapple with a pygmy, and there was nobody who did not feel that ultimately the Russian arms might triumph."

It was reported this morning that the $100,000 fund pledged for the purpose of completing the buildings of the sanitarium and training college at Takoma had been subscribed. The next money to be raised is $50,000 to be used in establishing a publishing house and erecting the buildings of the home office. Both will be at Takoma.

Although the congress will adjourn tonight, it is expected that the members of the general conference will remain in session for several days. The next general congress will be held in 1907 at a place to be selected later.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., May 30.—Nan Patterson, the "Floradora" girl, who was three times tried for the murder of Caesar Young, will not give her performance at the Nesbitt Theater today, as Judge Halsey granted a preliminary injunction restraining her from going on the stage, because of a violation of a contract made by the actress with Irving E. Pinover, of New York.

The motion for the injunction was made by four prominent attorneys representing Mr. Pinover, in the chambers this morning. After the granting of the injunction papers were served on Nan in her room at the hotel.

WAR INDEMNITY OF

of Vladivostok, with the possible proviso that Japan will make it an open port for the use of the vessels of all nations; the absolute recognition of the independence of Korea, together with Japan's predominating influence in that country; and the surrender of Russian war vessels now interned at Shanghai, Saigon, Chefoo, and San Francisco.

Provision will also be made for the return probably at the expense of Russia, of all prisoners of war now held by Japan, as well as of those held by Russia.

The Russian Ambassador, Count Cassini, has announced his purpose of calling on the President later in the week. The President will then doubtless communicate to him the substance of the interview he had with the Japanese Minister.

President for Arbitrator.

Information obtained at the Japanese legation yesterday leads to the conclusion that Japan would be more than pleased to have President Roosevelt act as intermediary and to have the negotiations for peace conducted here at Washington, away from the possible influence of interested European courts.

Count Cassini, however, still maintains his attitude of an uncompromising war advocate. He insists that talk of peace is premature, and that Russia must vindicate her arms, even if it should take years.

His successor, Baron de Rosen, is known to be an opponent of Russia's war policy, and to be anxious for a cessation of hostilities. The new ambassador will arrive in this city next month.

Hay Confers With Delcasse
To Arrange Terms for Peace

(Special Copyright Cable.)

PARIS, May 30.—It is the universal opinion among high officials and diplomats that the war should cease.

A rumor has been current today that a long private conference has been held between M. Delcasse and Mr. Hay, the American Secretary of State, since news came of the disaster to Rostovsky, and that the whole situation was discussed between the two statesmen with the result that a tentative plan to bring about peace negotiations was agreed upon which will become operative when approved by the foreign office of Germany, England, Austria and Italy.

It is impossible to get confirmation of the reports from either the United States legation or the foreign office. They are generally believed to be true.

The great body of French investors in Russian securities are alarmed and they will be back of M. Delcasse in any move he may make in the interest of peace.

Czar and Grand Dukes
Would Fight It Out

BERLIN, May 30.—Reports received here from St. Petersburg today to some extent dispel the hope expressed generally that peace will follow the defeat of Russian arms.

The news which has had this disquieting effect has been the report that the Czar is determined to continue the struggle, notwithstanding the disaster which has overtaken Russia, in the hope that the army may eventually win a victory which will retrieve for the previous losses.

According to the reports received Russia may withdraw General Linevitch's army from Manchuria, to concentrate a million reinforcements will then be sent to the front, and after Linevitch has reorganized this immense force the Japanese can be attacked and overwhelmed. The grand dukes are said to be backing this plan and urging the Czar to continue the war.

Russian Assembly
To Consider Peace

ST. PETERSBURG, May 30.—The rumor is heard here in many quarters, and repeated persistently, that the government has decided to hasten the calling of a representative assembly, as had been agreed upon at the signing, in order that the question of ending the war may be submitted to the assembly.

NEW PRIMARY LAW CASE
IN ROCKVILLE COURT

Bill in Equity to Restrain Board of Supervisors—Democrats and Republicans Interested.

ROCKVILLE, Md., May 30.—Over 200 Montgomery county politicians, Democrats and Republicans, assembled in the courthouse here this morning to hear testimony to be taken by Judges Henderson and Motter on the bill in equity filed by the Republicans of this county to restrain the board of election supervisors from holding primaries August 1 under the new election law passed by the last Legislature.

The morning session was consumed by arguments of counsel on the demurrer filed by the board of supervisors. The demurrer was overruled and the taking of evidence will begin at once.

The Republicans, aided by a large number of Democrats, in the fight on the new law, are represented by Attorneys Thomas Dawson and Alexander Kilgour. Thomas Talbot appears for the supervisors.

It was declared by the bill in equity that the new law is unconstitutional because it was changed after it passed the Legislature, containing features that the Legislature never passed when it was presented, and received the governor's signature. The greatest excitement prevails here over the matter, as the new law is regarded by many as a tool for wholesale corruption of the ballot.

Mr. Talbot opened the argument on the demurrer, by saying that to declare the law unconstitutional the judges must assume that all the election officials were corrupt. He conceded that two sections of the act had been tampered with, but contended that the rest of the law ought to stand.

This Attorney Dawson and Kilgour denied. Mr. Dawson said the law would create the greatest market for votes ever known in Montgomery county. He argued the law unconstitutional because it had never been passed by constitutional requirements.

He insisted that the court had jurisdiction in the matter.

At the conclusion of the argument the court overruled the demurrer. Among those who will testify in the case are Senator Jones and various members of the Legislature.

Coffee Hurt
You?

No need to get mad now, tear up the paper, or shout "nonsense, good coffee never hurt anyone."

You know better than that for you can point out all around you folks who are the worse for coffee's slugging. Think over a few coffee drinking friends and casually inquire if they are entirely and perfectly well and just how coffee treats them.

If it hurts others isn't it just possible?

Catch the drift, don't you?

In fact, after you have studied the matter a bit it will come plain that if you are a coffee drinker the chances are you already have some form of incipient or perhaps fixed organic disease due entirely to the coffee—constipation, rheumatism, eye trouble, nervous headaches, nervous prostration, or others of the well proven coffee ails. You can decline to look the thing squarely in the face and peg along with coffee.

will locate the exact cause of your steady destruction of health, if that cause be coffee. It's worth knowing the plain, sober fact before fixed organic, heart or other disease sets in, which perhaps cannot be cured.

The test is pleasant, accurate, and satisfying.

Quit coffee absolutely for 10 days and in its place use Postum.

BE SURE the Postum is properly boiled as per directions on pkg. (and that's easy), then you have the famous Food Coffee, with the deep seal brown which turns to rich golden brown when rich cream is added, and the flavor is crisp, snappy, and soft, like the high grades of Old Gov't Java.

If in two or three days you begin to sleep soundly at night, digest your food better, stomach and bowels show signs of recovery, or the old feeling of weakness at the heart leaves, or eyes get stronger and head works clearer (the ails of coffee drugging are multitudinous), the facts will be before you and
